HONESTY

(By Herbert Abbitt, A. H. S.)

Honesty is the one thing without which there can be no success and since success is the thing for which all humanity longs and the goal for which all people strive, it is plainly evident that honesty is the best policy. Honesty is, as it were, the foundation on which the structure of success is raised. Sometimes it seems as if some men have obtained success through trickery and dishonesty, but this is merely a phantom, a mirage of the desert, which when man seeks to reach and grasp, fades away into nothingness and "leaves him naught but grief and pain for promised joy." From time immemorial there has been in the heart of man a horror of slavery. There is no slavery comparable to the slavery of dishonesty. Learn to know truth, 'the truth shall make you free' —free from the slavery of dishonesty. There is no power that can conquer truth. Often seemingly for a time truth is conquered but this is only temporary for "Truth crushed to earth shall rise again. The eternal years of God are hers." For every cause there is some effect, some reason. In this case God is the reason. No man can build unless he has the attributes of God in him and God is truth, therefore, we must have truth and honesty.

All home life, all school life, and all business must be based on honesty. The child must be honest with the parents and the parents with the child. He must be honest and true with his schoolmates. When a man is summoned before the courts of this country, he must obligate himself to deal in honesty and truth in his testimony and whenever there comes a reasonable doubt that has not been put this, he is no longer counted worthy of consideration of his peers and his testimony is broken from the record. It has been found that in all colleges the honor system has done more to bring order and success than all the old fashioned espionage which only caused boys and girls to hide the things of which they were ashamed.

All business is founded upon honesty. When a man goes to a bank and wishes to borrow money, unless he is honest no matter how much security he gives the banker will be shy of lending him the money and will not deep down in his heart want to lend him the money.

All relations of life are founded on honesty,—business, as we have said, society family relations, in fact, from the king upon his throne to the lowest gamin on the street. Honesty is the one thing which is paramount in importance to all others. Sometimes in life a lazy man may make a success, sometimes a stupid one, sometimes a cynical one, but a dishonest man never makes a success.

Here in school we are beginning to establish the honor system, and when we do this we take such a step in progress as we could make in no other way and we try to appeal to all that is highest, and best in the hearts of the youth of the land. By beginning early we are teaching the boys and the girls things which will grow by what they are fed on.

In the words of the great Shakespeare we are teaching ourselves this, "To thine own self be true and it must follow as the night follows the day, thou canst not then be false to any man."

joint delivery.

14. The association may federate with other associations for better performing its marketing service.

15. The membership fee of $2 can be deducted from proceeds of first crop.

16. Annual audits of the records of the association are to be made by certified public accountants. The Farm Board is to make annual examinations and its findings are to be reported to the membership.

17. No director, except the president, can be a salaried officer of the association.

18. All officers or employees who handle association funds are to be bonded.

19. The Director of Extension is to nominate a public director.

20. No director, officer or employee is to do business for profit with the association.

21. Eight directors are to be elected by the members.

Association Objectives

This association has as its objective real service to tobacco growers by:

1. Collective bargaining power through volume of business.

2. Standardizing grades and equalizing prices over the selling season.

3. Minimizing speculation and properly merchandising tobacco.

4. Bringing about better understanding between the association and the buyers.

5. Rendering economies and services to both growers and buyers.

6. Improving quality and handling of tobacco on the farm.

7. Furnishing intelligent information on which to base production stabilization or the adjusting of supply to demand.

8. Popularizing Virginia Tobacco at home and abroad through advertising its superior quality.

Advantage of Cooperative Marketing to Growers

1. Insures fair grading. Tobacco will be bought and sold strictly on basis of quality. grower will get the same price for the same grade of tobacco—impartial, certified Federal graders will carefully inspect and grade each pile of tobacco under uniform light and conditions, according to the standard system of grades set up by the Federal Government and adopted by the association.

2. Fit production to consumption. The associations can through their connection with the Federal Farm Board and other agricultural agencies procure information as to the world's supply and needs, and will then request the membership to increase or decrease acreage in order to fit production to consumption.

3. Secure collective Bargaining power. The association will be able to sell tobacco to a better advantage than the individual, get the control of large volume of tobacco, a knowledge of grade values in keeping with world needs, and concentrated management and sale. This principle holds good in any business enterprise.

4. Make Law of Supply and Demand Work. Mr. Jas. C. Stone, of the Federal Farm Board, says that "the most important thing in marketing farm products is to regulate the time, manner and place of feeding the supply to the demand so that the producer will get a fair price under existing conditions. This cooperative marketing can do."

5. Reduce Cost of Selling. By doing a big volume business, overhead expenses can be cut and the membership will profit by such savings.

6. Minimize Speculation. Speculators, or those who buy tobacco only for resale, performing no marketing service, would be eliminated by the Association's method of handling tobacco, since most tobacco would be sold direct to the companies. The profit that now goes to these men would then go to the grower under the cooperative marketing system.

7. Provide Production Credit. The Association may set up subsidiary credit organizations through which credit for production purposes can be extended to responsible members of the marketing organization. This type of credit would mean much to the farmers of Virginia on account of its low interest rate. Credit directed by the organization would greatly influence acreage control.

Buckingham Cuts Tax From 1.95 To 1.70

Keep Farm Agent

Make Funds Available To Keep Schools Open Extra Month

(Special to Times-Virginian)

Buckingham, April 6.—The county board of supervisors meeting here Monday voted to cut the levy from $1.95 to $1.70.

The county has had a district road levy of 20c and a county road levy of 20c. The recent act of the legislature taking over all county roads into the state system prohibits the county from levying road taxes, so the 20c district tax was taken off and the county levy cut from 20c to 15c, said 10c to be retained as a sinking fund to take care of county bonds.

The supervisors also passed a resolution to loan out school funds from the gas tax receipts to aid in keeping the schools open for the current session. However, some question has been raised as to whether or not the county will receive any gas tax money for June, since the state takes over the roads July 1.

By a vote of 4 to 2, the supervisors voted to retain the county farm demonstrator for another year. A large number of citizens were present and while the matter was under consideration a public vote was asked on the question. Many did not vote but the count was 27 to 13 in favor of keeping the demonstrator. The demonstrator, R. G. Ellis, has agreed to a reduction of one-half in the salary paid him by the county. The state pays more than one-half of his total salary. At recent mass meetings resolutions asking for the abolishment of this office were passed and subsequently the board had so voted. Monday A. C. Wood moved to reconsider the matter, which resulted in the resolution to continue the farm demonstrator for another year from July 1.

Look Over Road Machinery Mon.

Moses Reports Will Be Able To Arrange Satisfactory Price

Representatives of the State highway department were here this week to examine and evaluate county road machinery and equipment with a view of the state purchasing same. The county will not need road machinery after July 1, when all roads in Virginia will be taken over by the state. Don Moses, chairman of the board of supervisors, last night said that he was sure a satisfactory purchase price could be arranged on the equipment.

Woman Escapes But Spends Night In Jail

County officers are called upon to handle all sorts of cases, and one of the most unusual on local record developed here last week. A state probation officer, en route from Marion to the state farm, near Richmond, stopped at Vera for just long enough for one of her charges, said to be one Eula Price, and said to have a misdemanor record to escape. Later brought to the local jail in what was purported to be in an intoxicated condition. She spent the night in jail, kicking out a window pane during the night, and next morning was turned back over to state authorities.

BENT CREEK

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Martin, Miss Myree Childress, her brother, Dick Childress, and Miss Emma Martin, of Richmond, motored here Saturday, and spent Easter with Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Childress.

Miss Mary C. Abbitt, who fell and broke two of her ribs, a few days ago, is improving at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thornhill, who have been living in Roanoke, will move to Bristol about the middle of April, Mrs. Thornhill is teaching this week with home people.

The epidemic of flu at camp 16 is about over if no new cases develop.

Miss Fannie Dixon spent last week in Lynchburg with Mrs. Nannie Turner. She reports a pleasant visit.

Mrs. W. A. Wells, who has been suffering with a sprained ankle, is much better, and entertained a crowd of her friends Friday night.

The Sunday school at Maple Grove has reorganized. There was a nice crowd out Sunday and we hope to see more and more each Sufday. If every church member would just say 'we will do our best', oh! what a victory for God. We pay so little attention to the most vital thing in our lives.

MT. VINCO

MT. VINCO—Sunday school opened at Mulberry Gover church Sunday with a large attendance. Popular Virginia Tobacco at home and abroad through advertising its superior quality. We pray more and more that Sunday school will grow and grow. Mrs. W. E. Crews is superintendent.

Mrs. Ollie Walker, of Richmond, and Miss Mazie Crews, of Hopewell, visited Mr. and Mrs J. A. Patteson Easter. Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Lewellyn recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Luther Lewellyn, of near Manteo.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Crews were in Lynchburg last week.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank the many friends of Appomattox and Washington for their kindness shown in the sickness and death of our son and brother, Taylor V. Godsey, also for the many beautiful flowers.

Home Economics Works Improves

Plant Gardens and Start Program to Improve Grounds

Mr. Wilkins and Miss Jones are continuing this week the program of classes as part of their 'Live at Home' program. This is the only school in this locality carrying on this special program of work.

Work was started this week on the school garden, located on the North side of the cottage. This is a joint project for the two departments. All work will be done by the girls and boys, and the vegetables raised will be used by the Home Economics department, with the surplus marketed or canned. This work will continue though the summer and will be counted as project work. The garden site was sown in cow peas last Spring, and ploughed under this fall.

Plans are also under way to improve the grounds around the new agricultural building, and the practice cottage.

Specialists of Blacksburg talked to the ladies last week on 'The Year' Round Garden'. This club meets every Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Morris.

Health Clinics Are Announced Here

Invite Public to Take Advantage of Free Examination

Beginning with the week of April 11 the State Health Department, co-operating with the Southside Health District, and Appomattox chapter Red Cross and Appomattox Tuberculosis chapter, will hold clinics for the early diagnosis of tuberculosis at Appomattox courthouse. The clinics will continue from Monday until Friday. These clinics are conducted especially for the examination of children, many of whom have tuberculosis in a form that can not be discovered by ordinary examination of the chest. For these a skin test with tuberculin similar to the Schick test for diphtheria will be made. Whenever the tuberculin skin test shows that the child has been infected an X-ray examination will be made to determine the extent of the disease. This will enable the doctor making the examination and the family physician to instruct the parents of the children how to care for them to prevent the actual development of tuberculosis.

On the second day of the clinic (Tuesday), adults will be examined as in the periodic chest clinics which have been conducted by the State Health Department for years.

This is the first clinic that has been conducted in Appomattox county for the early diagnosis of tuberculosis in children. It is often the case that the disease cannot be detected in children without the use of tuberculin and the X-ray.

Patients will be examined only when referred by the family physician, and report of finding will be made to him. Parents desiring to have their children examined, and adults who want an examination for themselves should first consult the family physician.

There will be no charge for the tuberculin and chest examination, but when an X-ray picture of the chest is made there will be a charge of $2 to cover the cost of making the picture.

All children, white and colored, under 15 years of age, must come Monday April 11.

W. A. Brumfield, M. D. Director Southside Health District.

Road Engineer To Locate Here

S. V. Munsey to Have Charge Of Appomattox And Campbell

S. V. Munsey, state road engineer, now located at Farmville, will establish offices at Appomattox by July 1, and become road engineer for Appomattox and Campbell counties.

Mr. Munsey will come here in a few weeks to begin a survey of all county roads in order that the state may plan its new road program. Local authorities are stated at Mr. Munsey's designation for these two counties and that he will establish his office at Appomattox.

Hopes For Money For Monument Dim

According to information received here this week, there is little likelihood of Congress making available at the present session the funds necessary for the construction of the Memorial monument selected for the Surrender Grounds here, Approximately $100,000 will be required to erect the beautiful memorial, blueprints of which are all ready. Congressman Harry St. George Tucker has been away from Washington recuperating at the Seashore from recent illness. He was the patron of the Monument bill.

Say 230 in Clover Hill District Have Not Signed

An enthusiastic drive to enlist tobacco growers in the 'sign-up' campaign for the Dark-Fired Tobacco Growers' Association is being waged starting today, according to C. T. Moses, sign-up chairman.

Mr. Moses said last night that a list of farmers who had not signed to date had been worked up as complete as possible. He added:

"I want to say that if our organization for cooperative tobacco marketing is perfected, the farmers have got to buy themselves and help by signing contracts and giving their support to the organization.

"I am going to give each week the number of non-signers in each district, starting with Clover Hill this week and I hope each non-signer will take his mind made up and ready to sign when a contract is offered him.

"We expect to work Clover Hill district during the next four or five days and offer all growers a chance to sign. Should any of the workers miss seeing you, get in touch with me, or with your county agent, or a supporter in your community.

"There are 230 non-signers at the present time in the Clover Hill district."

A meeting was held for this district in the school at Hixburg last night. A number of tobacco growers enlisted in the campaign at that time and others are expected to follow.

It was also announced that a meeting would be held for the Southside district at the court house here next Wednesday night at 7:30. All growers, especially non-signers, are urged to attend. Similar meetings will be held in other districts until every grower in the county has been given an opportunity to sign the Association contract.

The local drive is a part of like drives in all of the dark-fired counties. Success is being met in every one of the sections and it is confidently declared that the necessary seventy-five per cent will be signed up with the Association by the last of April. Some counties have already gone 'over the top.'

Arguments for the Association have been ably presented during the past few weeks and the present task is to get out and interview the growers and get them to sign the contract to sell through the farmer's own organization.

RANSONS

RANSONS.—News has been received by relatives here of the death in St. Mary's hospital in Huntington, W. Va., of Miss Louise Kirk. Mrs. Kirk was well known here as the daughter of the late Rev.
